

Laminating Adhesives New Legal Entity Structure

Transition of Laminating Adhesives Business to Arkema: Impact on Your Invoicing Process

Dear Valued Supplier,

On May 2, 2024, Dow announced it reached an agreement with Arkema, a leader in specialty materials, outlining the intention to divest its Laminating Adhesives business, part of the Packaging & Specialty Plastics portfolio. The scope of the divestiture includes the associated business segment and manufacturing sites at Ringwood and Elk Grove, Illinois, USA; Mozzate and Parona, Italy; and Toluca, México. The Taloja, India, site will remain with Dow Chemical International Private Limited (Dow India) and will contract manufacture to Arkema.

You have been identified as a carrier that is currently invoicing The Dow Chemical Company's Laminating Adhesives business via script.

How will this change impact you?

As the Laminating Adhesives Business transitions into Arkema, you will need to follow an updated invoicing process for those shipments in scope to move to Arkema. Invoices for shipments on or after December 2, 2024, must change to this new process.

Outbound shipment-related invoice scripts are to be billed to:

- Scripts/Uploads: FUSFSCRBostik@dow.com

It is imperative that these new work processes are adapted into your business to ensure timely invoice processing and payment. For all shipments relating to in-scope Laminating Adhesives sites listed above, on and after December 2, 2024, please refer to Dow's website, LearnAboutDowLE.com, to review the specific legal entities that will impact you under the section Laminating Adhesives Legal Entities – Supplier.

Our goal in utilizing this website is to safeguard your business and transactions with us. We recommend verifying the authenticity of this communication through the website, which is designed to be a key step in validating the content you receive from Dow. This approach aims to minimize cybersecurity disruptions and payment scams.

We greatly appreciate your support.
